Q & A

How can I become an Attorney Emeritus?

You may enroll as an Attorney Emeritus when you next receive your attorney registration form. Or you may enroll now by calling 877-800-0396 or going to nycourts.gov/attorneys/volunteer/emeritus/index.shtml and completing a short online form.

What are the requirements for this new status?

You must be 55 years of age, be an attorney in good standing, and have practiced for a minimum of ten years. You may register to be an Attorney Emeritus if you are retired or engaged in active practice.

Will I be exempt from the $375 registration fee and the CLE requirements for active practitioners?

Attorneys still engaged in the active practice of law are not exempt from paying the biennial registration fee or satisfying CLE requirements. However, under recently amended rules, pro bono legal services provided under the Attorney Emeritus Program can be counted toward Continuing Legal Education requirements. You may earn up to a total of 15 CLE credit hours through an Attorney Emeritus Program host organization. Alternatively, you may earn up to a total of 15 CLE credit hours as follows: up to 10 CLE credit hours from an Approved Pro Bono CLE Provider and the remaining CLE credit hours through an Attorney Emeritus Program host organization. Two 60-minute hours (120 minutes) of such pro bono legal services qualify for one CLE credit hour.

How many hours of pro bono must I commit to performing?

In a 2-year registration period, you must perform a minimum of 60 hours of pro bono service under the auspices of an approved legal service organization in New York, including bar association pro bono programs and court-sponsored volunteer lawyer programs.

What kind of previous experience must I have in the area of law in which I will provide advice?

While helpful, generally no previous experience is required unless otherwise stated. You will be trained and supervised by the organization through which you provide legal services.

Will I be covered by legal malpractice insurance?

Yes. You will be afforded malpractice insurance coverage by the organization through which you perform legal services, and if you participate in a court-sponsored pro bono program you will be covered by the defense and indemnification provisions of Public Officers Law § 17.

What kinds of assistance will I be asked to provide?

AEP legal service providers use volunteers to help them address the legal needs of low-income New Yorkers who cannot afford to hire private counsel. In most cases, you will sit down with those seeking assistance to advise them about their rights, the legal process and which next steps they should pursue. You may provide limited help to litigants to assist them in preparing petitions, complaints and other legal documents; or you may choose some programs in which you will become the attorney for the litigant and provide full representation.

What if I have additional questions about the program?

Please call 877-800-0396 or contact: volunteerattorneys@nycourts.gov.

Do I have to wait for my attorney registration materials to sign up for this new status?

No. You may enroll anytime by calling 877-800-0396 or going to nycourts.gov/attorneys/volunteer/emeritus/index.shtml and completing the online form.

“New York lawyers have an extraordinary history of helping those in need. We hope that eligible attorneys will embrace the role of Attorney Emeritus and put their valuable skills and experience to work on behalf of the many New Yorkers who cannot afford legal assistance. On behalf of the organized bar, legal services programs and the court system, I look forward to the growth of the Attorney Emeritus Program and to personally recognizing every attorney who completes this exemplary service.”
